

Join us for Marbling Week 2017

School for Bookbinding Arts at Cat Tail Run Hand Bookbinding

September 13 (Wednesday) through September 19 (Tuesday)
Featuring master marblers Regina and Dan St. John

Pigment Grinding and Historical Marbled Paper Patterns are great taken as a pair.

Pigment Grinding & Marbling Ink Preparation

September 13 (Wed), $185 + $30 materials fee

This one-day class teaches the magic of bringing color forth from natural materials. Prior to the advent of synthetic colors, crafts of all kinds employed ground pigments from plant and mineral sources. Feel the weight of the glass muller in your hand and discover the unexpected essence of indigo.

Historical Marbled Paper Patterns

September 14 - 15 (Thurs - Fri), $285 + $50 materials fee

Early marblers made use of the physics of surface tension and ink densities in order to accomplish these deft, intricate patterns characteristic of marbling from the 1600s through the 1800s. Learn what the early marblers knew as you recreate these historical patterns. Students will also burnish their marbled papers, bringing the surface of the paper to a satisfying gloss.

Beginning Paper Marbling

September 18 - 19 (Mon - Tue), $285 + $45 materials fee

You will learn many traditional combed patterns, including the time-honored stone pattern. This course includes numerous extras such as instruction in marbling the edges of book pages and marbling on materials such as leather or wood. Students may reasonably expect to produce 20 to 30 papers during the class.
